Biography

My name is Tony Kollarmalil. I was born in Kuwait to Indian parents. My father was a power plant engineer & my mother was a nurse. I was raised in Kuwait till the age of 14 when the Gulf War broke out in '91 & we were forced to return to India. I graduated from high school in India & afterwards left to pursue a medical degree in Russia. I spent 9 years in Russia, & completed medical school with a specialization in Emergency medicine. After my education, I returned to India where I worked for the next couple of years before moving to the US in 2007. I became a naturalized citizen in 2019.

I have lived in Yonkers since 2007 with my wife who is a native of Yonkers. She was a Pharmacist at White Plains hospital for several years & now works for NY State Department of Mental Health.

I started out my career in the US at Premier Health Urgent care (now called CityMD) as a clinical workflow improvement specialist. I have since been in population health for several years, first at a startup & now at Columbia University for the past 5 years. I help identify high risk patients that require outreach & work with providers providing education & input on how to improve quality of care while lowering costs. Our work is primarily in the NYC, Westchester, Rockland & Orange counties. I also consult for various startups on matters of population health. At the height of the COVID pandemic my efforts shifted to monitor patients that tested positive for COVID but were sent home because they did not present with adverse symptoms. This involved calling patients daily to check up on them for 10-day periods. I was also a part of the restructuring of how we saw patients via telehealth.

We have 2 children in the Yonkers public school system, one honor roll student going into 7th grade, the other going into 1st grade.

I serve as the trustee at a 501c Nonprofit St. John's Syriac Orthodox church in Valhalla, a position I have held for 2 years now. We hold charity drives for associations like Feeding Westchester & our youth volunteer at local food pantries. I am currently in the running to be elected to the council on the Malankara Syriac Orthodox Church of North America with 66 churches in the north American region & several thousand members.

I am fluent in English, Hindi, Russian, Malayalam (my native dialect) & some Arabic. My other passions are running, mountain biking, hiking & reading. I have finished some Ultra Marathons. I also try to participate whenever I can in Westchester park clean up events.
